

I spend a lot of time birdwatching.

Sometimes, when I'm lucky,
I'll find feathers.

Blue jay (tail feather)

Dark-eyed Junco
(tail feather)

Mallard (secondary feather)

But I can't keep them....

Collecting feathers is illegal.

What law makes it so?

THE MIGRATORY
BIRD ACT of 1918

The logo features the text "THE MIGRATORY BIRD ACT of 1918" in a gold, brush-stroke font, arranged in a circular pattern. The words "THE", "MIGRATORY", "BIRD ACT", and "of 1918" are stacked vertically. Surrounding the text are several black silhouettes of birds in flight, including a large eagle-like bird at the top left, a smaller bird at the top center, a large bird at the top right, a small bird on the left, a small bird on the right, a small bird at the bottom left, and a large eagle-like bird at the bottom right. A small, thin, curved line is located at the bottom center of the image.
